Jesuit Missionaries Receive Blessing

AURIESVILLE, NEW YORK-Reverend Demetrius Zema, S.J.,

AURIESVILLE, NEW YORK—Reverend Demetrius Zema, S.J., of the Shrine of Our Lady of Martyrs at Auriesville, imparting blessing to group of Jesuit missionaries returning to Philippines and Japan. Their return marks the beginning of the observance commemorating the 300th Anniversary of the martyrdom of St. Issue Jogues, first saint to be martyred on American soil. The Jesuit Missionary was killed by the Mohawk Indians at approximately the spot pictured here, where his statue is part of a national shrine erected in honor of him and his companions.

Father Zeins was for many years Professor of Illstory at Pordham University in New York.

Ships cannot be built with steel thick enough to protect their crews from the terrine lethal radiation of a close stomic explosion, Col. Stafford Warren, Bikini safety officer, has declared after an inspection. Some of the 73 target vessels remained dangerously radioactive even a week after the atomic bomb. he declared, after the ball-of-fire blast sank five, heavily damaged nine and affected 59 warships, Radiation released by the bomb was "terrific," Colonel Warren told news-

Colonel Warren believes that if the target fleet had been manned, the blast would have rendered it helpless, since "many not hilled by the blast would have been unable to carry on their duties because of Illness from radiation," quoting Captain George Lyon also of the safety

OPA ENDS: Lid Is Off

When President Truman velocd the OPA extension bill, declaring it was not a true "price-control" measure, the house of representatives passed a resolution extending OPA for a 20-day period. Then the senate balked, Result: No OPA.

The reaction was immediate in cattle, hogs, grain and dairy products. Prime cattle shot up to $22 a hundred pounds on the Chicago market for an all-lime high within hours. Two-dollar wheat was seen for the first time since 1925, Milk went up about 2 cents a quart. Wemen in Washington, D. C., reported butter at $4 cents a pound.

Many merchants all over the United States, however, pledged a hold-the-line policy. In a few cases, prices were lowered to "start healthy competition." But generally prices began moving up, despite President Truman's appeal to hold down inflation until a new price contrel bill could be passed by the con-In view of the situation, Senate Majority Leader Barkley warned that two or three weeks probably would be required to get even temporary continuation resolution through the senate. $2.50 CURE:

Hyperthyroidism

It used to cost $150 for a surgical operation to cure hyperthyroldism, but there is now a cure costing only $2.50, contained in a drink of water. That is what Dr. Earle M. Chap-man of the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston, told the American Medical association meeting in San Francisco recently.

The curative agent is a tiny pinch of radio-lodine, one of the atomic medicines. It is not new, having been used experimentally for years. But the new thing about it is that it has been accepted by doctors of medicine in place of the more expensive and more serious surgical process. Atomic ovens can produce the cyclotron product inexpensively and it should become plentiful shortly, said Dr. Chapman.

The additional tax would be levied on individuals and corporations when congress meets after the first of next year,

Mr. Snyder gave flat assurance, however, that the administration would propose no new tax levies

The U. S. treasury, Mr. Sny-der stated, had over 14 billion dollars cash balance, but has temporarily halted its program of retiring the public debt through cash redemption of maturing securities. To redeem these securities now would add to buying pressure. The treasury has taken this step, it was learned, as an anti-inflationary the presence of so many of the few who say so much to so many, my friend launched forth into a tirade on the responsibility of the publicist.

"You can't play baseball according to football rules," he said, shaking a menacing fist at me, "and that is what Washington officials are doing. You studied political science 30 years ago. I studied it only 20 years ago. And you know perfectly well that the present generation is not following the rules laid down by our founding fathers. You ought to tell the public about it.

"Now maybe the principles of our government are wrong. I am not defending them. But I am saying that we are describing them. Rule of the majority, a republican form of government operated by the representatives of the people, is a travesty, when legislation is jammed through by minorities. And I mean bureaucrats as well as lobbyists."

This happened when the senate was neck-deep in the final debate over the OPA and my friend claimed congress was revolt-ing against what he called the high pressure methods of the administration. Since the congress was tear-Airplanes cost a lot of money ing the administration measure to when they are new, but when the shreds at that moment I pointed out what they called propagandizing, the example was not a very good one, So he proceeded to develop his theme with specific references all too tamillar to me and my coliually clean out such government leagues of the microphone and typewriter.

With Lobbyists

You, too, are familiar with the power of the "pressure boys" as my friend Kenneth Crawford called them in his revealing book by that name, Crawford calimated there were 6,000 active lobbyists in Washington when World War II started. There are many more now, Speaker Rayburn said the town was 'scething" with them.

We all remember the seven-digit ing expedier, is confident that the sum of money contributed to a cam-1916 goal of 1,200,000 housing units paign fund which came out of the members' dues of one great labor union. True, the head of the union later quarrelled with the president whom he had helped elect because the president refused to take his orders. Nevertheless, this example Illustrates what "big money" attempts, and sometimes succeeds in

We know, too, that when the entire economy of the country was locked to a dead center by strikes in two essential industries, coal and transportation, and that when the government liself gave orders. those orders were disobeyed. Minority rule was operating then, Minorlly groups nullified the wishes of the duly-elected representatives of the people.

My friend, with all his vehemence, with his allegiance to management, made no claim that the demands of the rallroad men, the coal miners, were unjust. He merely said that in order to obtain what they considered justice, the powerful leaders of the organizations to which they belong were able to play baseball according to fool-

The theory that the creation of the laws of the land has been taken from the hands of the elected representatives of the people was put forth by Crawford in "The Pressure Hoya" seven years ago when he said: "It is improbable that a single important law enacted in the last 10 years has been willen by its congressional sponsor or its nominal author. Administration bills are prepared by New Deal experis in executive departments, Legislation independently insugu-rated is almost invariably prerated is almost invariably pre-pared in the office of a lobbyist. Training Practices

In a recent directive Veterans administration has notified co-operating institutions that it will not interfere with existing practices in recognized schools and training-onthe job establishments in which veterans are enrolled under education- 😹 al features of the G.I. Bill.

VA also announced that job training establishments do not have to guarantee veterans work at the end of their training courses regardless of circumstances. Schools and training establishments are required only to submit their usual reports on student attendance and grades of veterans who are enrolled, and VA training officers will obtain their information only from these institutions only if the schools are unable to furnish regular reports.

This directive was issued after some schools expressed the belief that VA training officers might seek to exercise supervision over established schools that have had training courses for years.

"No employer is expected to guarantee a job to a veteran who falls to demonstrate during the course that he will merit employment. Neither is an employer-trainer expected to guarantee a position against unforeseeable circumstances which may arise and make it necessary for him to reduce his force or at least not to expand it," the di-

Questions and Answers

Q. Can you explain to me the difference between allotments made by men in the services and famlly allowances?-Mrs. A. R. B., Bedford, Ind. A. Any man in the armed services may make an allotment for several purposes (1) for his National Service life insurance. (2) for purchase of war bonds, (3) for his bank account or even for his family, and these allotments are deducted fromhis pay. However, when a service man makes what is called a class F allotment of $22 per month to bepaid his dependents, which is alsocalled an allotment and is deducted from his pay, the government adds $28 for his wife and $30 for the first child and $20 for each additional child. These are called family allowances. Allotments on the part of servicemen are not compulsory although the army urges such allotments be made. However, a wifeor a dependent child may request

THE STORY THUS FAR. "Alicia Stevenson has been murdered!" The story was all over Pleasant Grove in minutes. Late in the afternoon Tom stopped by to get milk, and they talked about Alicia's death. Meg was upset, and involuntarily Tom put his arms around her and called her "darling," That evening Meg and her father sat looking at each other, each remembering that the other was out late the night before. "Did you do it?" she finally asked. "No-did you?" She was stunned. Jim MacTavish suggested they make s bargain: "You forget that I was out of the house—I'll forget you were trysting with Tom Fallon." A hot tide of crimson covered Mer.

CHAPTER XI

She caught her breath and could not believe she had spoken, though the words seemed to quiver in letters of fire between them. Her father stiffened with a little jerk. His face was white and hard and his eyes were veiled, so that she could not guess his thoughts._

For a moment that seemed a cen tury long his eyes met hers, and then he said very softly, "No, my dear-did you?'

"Father!" It was a shocked, incredulous gasp that came scarcely above her breath. "How-how can you even-think-" Her father lifted his shoulders in gesture that was not quite a shrug and drawled coolly, "Why not? You seemed perfectly willing to believe I had!" "Oh, no, Dad." In that breathless moment the endearing diminutive came easily from her tongue, "I didn't think you had-I couldn't ever believe you had-" "Yet you put the question very easily," he reminded her dryly. "It-it was only that I heard you come in last night-a little after "A few minutes after you came in, if I remember," said her father calmly, his eyes never leaving her white, ravaged face.

"Suppose we make a bargain, my dear Megan," Her father's voice came softly, low-pitched, scarcely above a whisper, in the tone of one conspirator to another, bargain managed faintly. He nodded, "You forget that I was out of the house-I'll forget that you were—er—trysting with Tom Fallon on the Ridge," he said in that gentle, yet somehow terrifying drawl. A hot tide of crimson poured over her face and reached from the collar of her neat cotton print frock to the very roots of her hair. "I wasn't-trysting with Tom Fallon!" Her mouth twisted with distaste at the thought, and the implication. "But you did meet him there-" "Purely by accidenti" she flashed. Her father smiled thinly, "I beleve you, my dear—though I am a little doubtful as to whether other people would, if it ever became necessary for other people to know of that-er-accidental meeting." She put her face in her hands for moment and her father watched her with a curlous tensity.

"But, of course, I can see no reason why anyone save the two of us should know anything about it," he went on smoothly. "Surely it my daughter and I wish to go for a walk in the fresh night air, it is nobody's business but our own. Unfortunately, in a murder investigation a great many seemingly unrelated facts come out. Of course, there's no likelihood that we should be in any way connected with this terrible affair. Neither of us had any motive to want Alicia out of the way-that is, I had none, I hoped to marry her!"

She stared at him, caught by some odd note in his voice. And after a moment he answered the look in her heart went relentlessly on, "You eyes, "Of course If It should become known that you were violently op- You didn't ask for it-but you can posed to me marrying her, that you resented the thought of having her he feels as you do-you saw it in his here in the house, and had been unable to persuade me to give up my plans to marry her-well-" Once again he-lifted his shoulders in that claim on him than if there were gesture that was not quite a shrug, but that was an effective dismissal,

Megan drew a long, hard breath, "You know I couldn't possibly have-" She set her breath against | more than you can stop breathing!" the sob that clutched at her throat, "Of course, my dear-I know that you are completely incapable of any such deed of violencel" her father assured her, and there was a warmth that was very close to ten-derness in his voice. "But it won't be what I know that will count. Megan-it will be what we can prove -or disprovel"

He let her all huddled in a heap for a moment as though to think that over. And then he said quietly, "That's why I say there is no reason why anyone should be told that you and I were out of the house -though, unfortunately, not together-for several hours last nighti"

"Whom did you think I'd be likely to tell?" she asked him huskily. after a moment in which she fought to pull herself logether so that speech was at all possible.

"There will be an inquest, of course," he reminded her, "Undoubledly we, as her closest neighbors-and I suppose her closest acquaintances-will be called to testi"But that's perjury," she whispered faintly. Her father's face darkened angrily, "Don't be an idiot! You did not kill her, Neither did I." So what possible difference can it make-if nobody knows that we went for a walk? I'm absolutely positive that I wasn't seen; I feel equally sure you were not. So where's the harm if we protect ourselves in a situation that could easily become very unpleasant?"

She hesitated and he said quietly, "Because, Megan, if it becomes known that you and I were not in bed and asleep—that you were out on the Ridge with Fallon—it's not only going to be extremely unpleasant for you, but it's going to finish him, once and for all. He'll never be able to get another job as teacher no matter how innocent and accidental your meeting was. Pcople will remember Alicia's little thrust about your spending hours together on the Ridge,' and people are good at adding two and two and getting six or seven."

Megan said quietly, "Where were you, Father?"

"Scuse me, sub-but could I talk to yo'-fo' a few minutes?"

He sot very still for a moment, his eyes clinging to hers, and she thought he scarcely seemed to breathe. And then he sald casually, 'I went for a walk,"

And as proof that he had had his say on the subject and no intention of speaking again, he got up and left the room.

She couldn't pelleve that her father had killed Alicia Stevenson. It was on incredible thought; but he had been out of the house, and he was very anxious that no one should know about that. And she thought of herself and Tom Fallon, on the Ridge.

And then she remembered his face tonight and the tone of his voice when that little word "darling" had slipped out - the look in his eyes, naked and polgnant and unashamed, the warmth and lenderness in his shaken voice that had been like a shining garment wrapped. about her chilled body.

"Oh, no-no-I won't hav it like that! I won't be in love with him-I won'ti" she walled, deep in her frightened, stricken mind. But her can't help it! The inquest was held the following afternoon in the rickety, nondescript little frame building where the Draft Board met, and it seemed that, except for the few bedridden in the lown, everybody was there.

Everybody, that is, except Megan and her father. For contrary to Jim's uneasy fear, neither he nor Megan had been called to appear, Little Beily Hendriz, Bill Logan, Mrs. Stuart, and a few of the others who had been first on the scene had been called. But she had firmly declined Mrs. Stuart's hearty invitation that she go, anyway.

Megan made herself keep busy throughout a day that seemed agelong. When Annle put midday dinner beside Megan and asked, a faint uneasiness in her voice, "Miss Meggle, is Mist' Larry comin' tomorrow night?"

"I suppose so, Annie," Megan anfy. And if we simply say that we swered, and quivered a little inside went to bed a little after ten-" at the thought of facing Laurence at the thought of facing Laurence with the thing that was in her heart: the thing that had been there-who could say how long?-but whose presence she had not discovered until under the shock of Allcia's death.

"I like to talk to him, Miss Meggle et yo' think he ain' comin' anyhow, how 'bout yo' calling him up and askin' him to? So I could talk to him?" Annie was grave-eyed and portentous. Megan, jerked out of her unhappy abstraction by Annie's tone, looked up at her curiously. 'Why, Annie, what's wrong? Why do you want to talk to Mr. Larry?" she asked, puzzled. Annie drew herself up a little and there was a gentle, yet implacable dignity about her as she said firmly, 'It's a private matteh, Miss Meggie -but it's powahful important. Yo'

call him to' me?" "Yes, of course, Annie," Megan answered and Annie thanked her and went out of the room, padding softly in the heelless felt slippers that she wore to "ease" her feet.

But Megan did not have to call Laurence, for at about four o'clock he came down the road and turned in at the gate grinning at her warmly and happily.

"I came over with the coroner and some of the county officers," he told her cheerfully, dropping down on the steps at her feet and baring his head to the soft wind, "Pleasant Grove's certainly getting her name in the papers. There was a newspaper correspondent for one of the Atlanta papers at the inquest."

Megan asked, after a moment, 'What-what did the inquest find-" "Death by means of a sharp instrument at the hands of a party or parties unknown," answered Laurence, looking up at her white, drawn face with surprise. "Oh look here, darling, I had no idea you were such a close friend of hers."

"I-wasn't, really," admitted Megan. "But-I knew her and-it's been a shock-" "Of course," sald Larry gently. He took her hand in his and held

It closely, "We won't talk about "Yesl" said Megan so sharply that Laurence turned surprised eyes upon her. Megan managed a faint

No trace of robbery or anything of that kand. The girl at the bank said she had cashed her usual monthly income check for fifty dollars, a few days ago, and her purse was found with more than thirty dollars in it. They feel sure that it she had surprised a burgiar at work, he would not have left the purse. They belleve that she was killed by someone she knew-or at least, someone she was not alraid of. There were no signs of a struggle in the place." Megan sat very still, her hands locked tightly in her lap. Killed by someone she knewl Someone she was not alraid off

"There was one sensation," sald Laurence after a moment, not looking at Megan. His eyes were on the garden, where, despite the fact that it was almost Christmas, a few late zinnias and marigolds were still in bloom and the chrysanthemums were great shaggy things of glowing beauty. 'That was when the telegram from her husband arrived-" "Her-husband?" she repeated incredulously.

Laurence nodded 'That seemed as much of a shock to everybody there as it is to you," he told her. "But it seems that when the delectives were going through her papers yesterday they found that she had a husband and that he was the one who was sending her fifty dollars a month. They wired him and the answer was brought to the inquest this atternoon. The husband is somewhere in the west, but he's fly. ning east to claim the body. Should be here tomorrow or next day, they thought."

"But she was a widow!" Megan protested, dazedly. "Apparently not," said Laurence, looking up as Annie appeared behind the screen door that led into the hall, "Ilello, Annie-how about putting another plate on the table and leiting me stay for supper?" "Yessuh, Mist' Larry-us sho' be glad to," she assured him, beaming, and then asked uneasily, "'Scuse me, sufi-but could I talk to yo'-to' a few minutes!"

Laurence looked surprised, but got to his feel. "Of course, Annie-don't tell me you want to divorce Amos, after all these years!" he laughed, excusing himself to Megan as he moved towards the screen door which Annie held open for him. "I ain't suab, Mist' Larry, dat i sured him darkly as she led the way to the kitchen.

Megan got up from the chalt where she had been sitting for more than an hour. In the late after-noon, the sunlight had been warm and pleasant here, but with the coming of dusk, a chill little wind got up and tiploed through the trees, and she went into the living room, where she built up the dre, making it brisk and cheerful,

Time was when the Lively ladies of the films weren't supposed to have a brain beneath their curls. No matter how smart they were, press agents pictured them as beauliful but sart of dumb. But now the girls don't care who knows that they not only act in pictures, but have a financial interest in them, lledy Lamare became a producer with "The Strange Woman"; Belle Davis is credited with "The Stolen Life," Ingeld Bergman is credited as producing "Arch of Triumph," and Joan Bennett is producing chief of Diana Productions.

Lanny Ross has been identified with "Moonlight and Roses" since 1928, but after he was demobilized from General MacArthur's special staff and returned to broadensting, he wanted to drop the song. In came several thousand protests, so It's still his theme song.

You'll see Joe Yule, Mickey Rooney's father, as "Jiggs" in "Heinging Up Father," for Monogram. He and George McManus, who draws the famous comic strip, were both considered for the role, but McManus withdrew "for personal feasons,"

As a Broadway star Jack Arthur was originally engaged for a singing-acting part in "Grand Central Station"; then he was kept as narrator of the show. He is the only stage performer of the hundreds who've worked on the program to win a permanent berth,

One of the biggest of all radio ecting plums right now is the "Nikki" role on the CDS Ellery Queen show. Gertrude Warner is leaving to get married, and "Nikki" will be written out of the script until the middle of July, when someone else lakes over.

Undulant Socialism A sick republic, like a human invalld, passes through a crisis in the course of almost any protracted illness. After the crisis, the patient rallics toward recovery or sinks with alarming basic toward the end. Whatever is to be done after a crisis must be accomplished with dispatch, or it is too late. The English government passed through a crisis approximately a year ago. Since England's current administration proclaimed likelf owner and operator of the coal mines, Britain has been viewed popularly as Socialistic—one of the collectivist nations. Not all the individuals in the Empire are socialists. Large ele-ments are not. But this large minority is being forgotten. Curtains are being drawn. The crisis is over and England has gone left.

A Long Time Dead. There is comething strangely final about it when a free people turns lis course toward State Socialism. Liberty never comes back without a revolution and then it's not the same. Such is the testimony of recorded history. Industrially, England is a coal country and private enterprise lost its last stronghold on

MASTER MINDS

Br George Peck There are two distinct schools of opinion about the late Franklin D Roosevelt - esteem bordering on reverence, or dislike bordering on hatred. There seems to he no middle ground; one either cherishes or disdains his memory.

hated him, he said certain things in a radio speech on March 2, 1939, when FDR saw "none such on our which should be repeated over and political horizon"? And just how over, and to which even his worst much longer will it be until, the enemy must agree. At that time great American public, rise in our to was Governor of New York State, perhaps dreaming of some expecting to take up his residence been "a complete reversal of all at the White House, Said Mr the teachings of history"? Roosevelt:

"The doctrine of regulation and legislation by MASTER MINDS In whose judgment nd will all the people may gladly and quietly acquiesce, has been too glaringly apparent these last ten years. Were it possible to find Master Minds so unselfish; so willing to decide unhealtatingly against their own personal interests or private prejudices; men almost god-like in their ability to hold the scales of justice with an even hand - such government might be to the interests of the country, but there are none such in our political horizon and we cannot expect a com-plete reversal of all the teachings of history."

He declared that the Federal covernment has no power whatever under the Constitution over the conduct of public utilities, of bunks, of insurance, of business, of ericulture, of education, of social welfare, and of a dozen other im-toriant features. IN THESE WA-"OFRAGED TO INTERFERE."

And then he esterably warned his listenera that if they should over let the Federal Government set power over such matters as "would inevitably result at some future time in a dissolution of the Union itself." As to States' lifehia he said: "The preservation I this home rule by the States in not a cry of lealous Commonarattle sceling their own agreendizement at the expense of sister States. Rather, I would like to inquire from whence come these MASTER MINDS, now enthroned at Washington, who are "summing But whether you loved him or up" the whole national economy? That Too Late Feeling

Bell Syndicate, -- WNU Features.

"Older persons try to advise hot-headed youth; it is the tragedy of all the generations that hot-headed youth never will listen."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"TF A GIRL could only see things now as she'll surely - surely-surely see them a few years from now! wails Rosamond's mother. "The man admits to 47; Rosamond is almost 18. She says she will be married on her birthday. He has been married before; he has sons older than she is; he must depend on her small fortune, for he has none of his own, and no job, and yet she is completely infatuated with him, and nothing her grandmother and I can say is of any use."

Well, poor Rosamond must be Jell to her tate, it she feels like that, and allowed to ruln her life in her own way. We parents can't save our children from their follies. If love and advice and example have no effect, then sometimes they have to be allowed to go over the whicipool and swim to shore after-

But I'd like to know more of Rosamond's background, and salisty my suspicion that xomething was lacking in her training, that she can be so utterly beyond influence and control now. Where did her mother fall hor? Somewhere, you may be YOUY MITE.

As for seeing things in youth as we are them a few years laterhow different this world would be if we could! How many miserable young mistakes would be avoided, how much we could save ourselves! Older persons try to advise hotheaded youth: It is the tragedy of all the generations in turn that hotheaded youth never will listen. Now Wants Baby Back,

Marie Louise, a college girl in our town, went on certain free-andeasy house-parties a few years ago and did "what all the others did," In other words she entered into s love offair with a man she hardly knew and didn't care about particularly. The result was a heartbroken family in Minnesola, to which also returned in disgrace, and · small boby's concealed atrival and hasty disposition for adoption. The girl married, discovered that she could not have more children, and went to the town where her child lived. She saw a small, fairy. like littly girl with a wistful, searching little face. The neighbors said that her foster-parents weren't too kind to her. And the mother was helpless! She came back home, as she had come in the beginning, to reproach me for having advised sdontion. And yet sdoption, in these cases, recipinly gives a baby · better chance than to be raised by an unmarried mother and marked with the still mescapable elleine of illegillmacy. This was the girl who told me that freegular sex relations in her school days dkin't concern anyone but terreil!

Then there is Relly, another childless young mother, who had a silly quarrel with her brother, when they were young. Just a few hot words about the girl he loved, and eventually married, and there was · barrier between them forever, Pride on neither side would break down, and can't break down, even now, when they need each other so. For Jim has been widowed, and has two small girls to raise, and helly lost her hinband in the war, and is hungry for maternal cares. Just a phrase of apology and regret would have ended this, 10 years ego; brother and eleter don't know each other now,

But Marie Leader and Delly

RASH, WILLFUL ACTS Few people like to take advice. This is particularly true of the young and headstrong. A girl who thinks she knows better than anyone else cannot be reasoned with; sometimes there is nothing to do but to stund aside and let her go through with her foolish

Miss Norris tells of an 18year-old girl who is determined to marry a man 47 years old, with two grown sons. He has no job, nor any income. It is hard to see why she is so infatuated with this middle-aged man, but so she is. Nothing her mother or grandmother cap say has any influence on her. It is obvious to everyone that Rosamond is in for a heartbreaking experi-

Many other foolish, willful people are suffering needless. ly, continues Miss Norris, because of stubborn pride. For instance, a woman quarreled with her brother years ago. She is now a widow, and her brother a scidower. He has two small children. This brother and sister would like to help each other, but pride stands in the way. Quarrels over wills divide many families. The occasions for flareups are numerous, and longstanding fends develop all too often from trivial circumstances.

On the other hand, concludes Miss Norris, everyone has frequent opportunities to make anonds for the harmful acts of life by little deeds of kindness and thoughtfulness, aren't the only ones. Which one of us doesn't look back at some looklabness, same indiscretion, some mistake of youth with bitter regret! Just to have been ordinarily polite to mother, as she worrled and pleaded Just to have gone back that evening, and surprised dad by spending on hour beside his sick-bed. reading to him, Just not to have written that angry letter. To have made less of the tangible thing - Grandma's opal breast-pin or Aunt Lizzie's Canton sel-and more of the spirit of giving and sharing.

It is a strange heart indeed that does not remember scores of these omissions and stupidities, some of them seemlogly slight, some of them affecting our whole lives, But what we must also remember, in hours of companetion and remorse, is that all about to are other opportunities for kindness and thoughtfulness, chances to save ourselves fresh reason for regret in the years to come. Sometimes I fancy that generosity today actually wipes out those old mistakes, and that to have learned the leason is mure important than the painful way in which we had to learn it. To any "I was wrong, and that that to past. I slart from here to go right," Is to have mastered a very imporlant invalical secret. There is no blunder, stupidity, sin of youth that may not be wiped out and forgotten; and, if we will have it so, may not be turned from loss into gain.

Prickly Pear Killer. The Australian town of Boonage has a memorial to an insect. This is the Cactoblastis Memorial hall built by farmers to honor the tiny Insects which freed thousands of rich acres from prickly pear. The weed from North and South America had a strangle hold on 30 million acres of Australian land by 1925. In the Argentine, Australian scientists tracked down the Caclobiatits cacterium intect. Within teven years the last big belt of prickly pears in Queensland has gone,

Home-Canned Vegetables

Yes, that canning senson has come around again. Gardens all over the country are bursting and blooming with their bounty of peas, corn, green benns, beets, carrols and greens. It's time to stop being the proverbial grasshopper and become the busy ant who wisely laid in provisions for the winter. Well-laden shelves give a wonderbecomes bare and unproductive, You can simply go down to your canning cellar and select the vegetables that go best with the meal. There's particular joy in this if you've raised them yourself and watched them grow by degrees, but even if you haven't done your own gardening, you'll enjoy those handpicked foods.

What Is Processing?

When we speak of canning vegetables, we often use the word processing. This simply means that you can the food, placing it in sterile jars and apply a high enough jemperature to kill the micro-organisms and then seal the Jars so no more

If you're new at this canning business, remember these two Important points: get produce as fresh as possible (this is where having a garden of your own helps so much) and trying to observe to the letter the rule of getting the vegetables from garden to can in two hours. Rule No. 2 is to have all your equipment ready so that there will be no time lost once you start the vegetables on their way to the jars. Essential Equipment.

You will need these pieces of equipment to make your canning program run as smoothly as possible: clean jars with caps, tongs with which to remove the Jars from the canner; _ fowels: newspapers, a large keltle for pre-cooking the vegetables, spoons, small paring knife, pot holders, and of course the canner, preferably a pressure cooker. You may also find a funnel escential, and it's nice to have a teakettle with a apout so that you can pour hot water into the Jars after they are filled,

The day before you actually deelds to do your canning check over the above equipment list and see that everything is fald out and ready. The jars should be checked for nicks and cracks by running a

LYNN SAYS:

Make canning time run amoothly: Have the jars ready by dguring as closely as possible the number you will need for the amount of fresh vegetables you use. These amounts of fresh vegclables give approximately 1 quart of canned produce:

4 pounds of separague; 14 pounds beets (whole); 14 pounds of carrota; corn (cut from the cob), a cars; a pounds of greens; a quarts unshelled lims beans; a pounds green beans; 2 pounds of siring beans; 24 to 3 pounds of tomatoes; 4 pounds of tomatoes (for julce).

After filling lars, always run a spatula down the eldes of the jar te eliminate air bubbles.

Use large pans of water and colanders to make washing and preparing the vegetables easy for carring.

finger over the top edge, and then washed in hot soapy suds and rinsed in clear hot water.

Pressure Cooker Desirable. Although the time table at the top of the column gives time for processing in the hot water bath, it should be remembered that the pressure cooker is the only method accepted by most authorities including the department of agriculture. Why is this, you ask?

First of all, there is danger of botulism in foods that are not properly processed. This particular type of poisoning comes from the soil, and when present in the food and not destroyed by processing, they produce a toxin which is a deadly polson. A pressure canner is regarded as the only means of providing temperatures high enough to kill the botulinus bacteria.

You may also ask why the pressure canner is recommended for vegetables and not considered essential (though it is desirable) for tomatoes and fruits. The answer is that vegetables, and also meats and fish belong to the non-acid group. In acid foods, the bacteria can be killed in a reasonably short length of time by boiling-water bath temperature, but in non-acid foods, much higher temperatures, as you get in the pressure cooker, are nexcasary

Use of Pressure Cooker,

Prepare the raw vegetable us di rected on the chart given at the top of this column. Pre - cook vegetable to shrink it somewhat and make a more attractive pack. Save the cooking liquid to all the Jara. Allow head apace of about 4 Inch at the top of each for except in the case of corn, peas and shell beans which need I inch because they swell more during cooking. Also add walt if desired, about I tempoon to each quart, Pour boiling water into canner to a level of about 2 inches, or follow manulacturer's directions. Seal of partially seal the covers on the jars, then place them on rack in pressure canner.

Adjust cover of canner and faster lightly with clamps. Leave the petcock upon until a jet of steam comes from it for 7 minutes. Check to see that no steam escapes from anywhere else except the petcock. Then close the petcock and allow the pressure to rise to designated temperature. Then, and only then, begin to count your processing time, checking often to see that the temperature does not fluctuate. When processing is unished, turn off the heat and let the pressure gauge come down to zero. Open petcock gradually, remove lid away from you and set lars on several thicknesses of cloth towels or newspapers, away from a deaft.

Never taste home canned vegeta. bles which you think may bu spolled. Your sense of smell is the best guide in telling you if the vegetables are good or not. If you are still using the hot-water bath for processing, follow the cooking times as directed, and always boll the vegs ables in an open sauce pan for 10 minutes before tailing or using when ready to

This advice to farmers to improve their present holdings rather than to acquire greater acreage. was corroborated by the committee on farm land prices of the Amer-ican Bankers association which urged member banks to admonish would-be farm buyers "go slow," to discourage borrowing to speculate in farm lands, and to tell veterans of "the hazards inherent in excessive land prices."

"Country bankers," a committee spokesman said, "are fully cognizant of the dangers inherent in the present farm land price situation. They are urging farm owners now to reduce their debt and to plan savings for farm improvement during these years of high income, because when conditions return to normal and American agriculture is in competition with other countries for world markets, it is probable that farm earnings will not support prices at current levels."

Woman Has Churned 10 Tons of Butter

EVERTON, MO .- Mrs. Gala O. Fletcher of Everion, by actual account kept in an old ledger, has churned 21,000 pounds of butter by hand in an old-fashioned brassbound churn in her 78 years. She explains that she has been churning butter since she was four years old when she had to stand on a wooden box to grasp the dasher handle. "It would be quite a lake if all the cream I have churned should flow into one pool," she said re-

The churn she uses is a century old and she has worn out many a home-made dasher in it. She keeps the cream only a short time before she churns It so that the butter she makes will be sweet.

After the butter is churned she places it in a large earthen trock which has been sunning for several hours. Then she starts working It with a circular movement, using a nat wooden paddle. That works the milk from the butter in about 10 minutes. She puts the butter away for several hours and then works it again to get out the last of the milk drops. The finished butter is a golden ball.

In order to have the best buttermilk, Mrs. Fletcher leaves flakes of butter floating in it. After 75 years' experience she believes she understands all phases of butter making. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY "Life" is the subject of the Les-con-Sermon that will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 21,

The Golden Text is: "I shall not ole, but live, and declare the works of the Lord,—God is the Lord, which hath shewed us light (Psalms 118: 17, 27).

The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all" (t John 1: 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Sci-Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God, Spirit, dwelling in infinite light and harmony from which emanates the true idea, is never reflected by nught but the good. Berause Life is God, Life must be eternal, solf-existent. Life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can crase" (pages 503: 28-2 and 289: 32-2).
